Email: Hjulien@fullertonbeck.com

Direct: (914) 305-8634

Heather joins the firm with extensive litigation experience in the areas of general liability, no-fault, medical malpractice, commercial litigation and appeals. Heather has handled all aspects of litigation at the state and federal level, including the New York Court of Claims and the New York Appellate Division. She has represented corporations, individuals and carriers in various matters ranging from business transactions, land use/zoning, and insurance defense matters. Heather brings a fresh perspective in that she has litigated on behalf of plaintiffs and defendants, thus allowing her to strategically handle each case assigned to her.

Heather earned her Juris Doctorate from Pace University School of Law and her Bachelor of Science, cum laude from John Jay School of Criminal Justice. She is licensed to practice in New York, New Jersey and the Southern District of New York. She is fluent in French Creole and proficient in French.
